

I am pleased to note that, with the inclusion of Memorial University of Newfoundland in the government reporting entity for the 2006 fiscal year, the Province now fully complies with PSAB recommendations and standards.

Use of Estimates

When preparing its financial statements, Government makes significant estimates, as not all information is available or determinable at the time of finalizing the statements. In these cases, estimates are based on the best information available at the time the statements are prepared. Examples of where estimates are used include the accrual of retirement benefits, the amortization of foreign exchange gains or losses, and the allowance for guaranteed debt. As well, estimates have been used in recording some tangible capital assets given that only limited information is available on some older assets. These estimates are audited and are provided for under generally accepted accounting principles.

2.8 Who Audits the Public Accounts?

The Auditor General is responsible for auditing the Public Accounts. Section 11 of the Auditor General Act requires that the Auditor General express an opinion as to whether the financial statements included in the Public Accounts present fairly the financial position, results of operations and changes in the financial position of the Province in accordance with Government's disclosed accounting policies and on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year, together with any reservations the Auditor General may have.

2.9 Why are they Audited?

The House of Assembly is responsible for overseeing the activities of Government and holding Government accountable for its handling of public resources. To assist this process, Government provides information about how it used public resources entrusted to it. One of the main ways Government does this is through the annual preparation, and tabling in the House of Assembly, of the Public Accounts of the Province.

But what assurance do Members of the House of Assembly have that the information provided in the Public Accounts is appropriate, credible and complete? How can Members know that the information they receive accurately reflects the results of the activities of Government? The answer is that the House of Assembly uses the services of the Auditor General to assist it in carrying out its oversight responsibilities.
